

Why celebrate 'Celebration'?

This Lungwort gains attention with an abundance of large flowers emerging from beautiful speckled leaves. Initially presenting as carmine-red blooms, they gradually transform into a deep gentian blue as the flowering season unfolds. It is adaptable to various growing environments and thrives in diverse conditions.

Naturalistic and Unique
Pulmonaria stands out as both naturalistic and distinctive, serving as a focal point or complementing surrounding plants.

Display of Colors
Watch the large flowers as they fade from red to a deep blue. The warm to cool tones of this bloom make it hard to look away!

Features

Deep green with speckled silver foliage
Great singular or as massed ground cover
Showy protruding flowers
Naturalistic look
Mildew resistant
Tolerates drought

Classifications

Height: 8-12"
Spacing: 12-18"
Spread: 18-20"
Bloom Time: Early to late Spring
Habit: Compact, mound
Light: Light to partial shade
Hardiness: zones 4-7

